VACANCY: ESSEX COUNTY

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES OF THE CLASS: This position involves responsibility for operating a computer and related peripheral equipment and for monitoring the system performance utilizing a console and on-line terminals. This class is distinguished from that of Computer Operator by virtue of either the complexity of the job being performed, by the interpretation of instructions and documents, or by responsibility for limited supervision of staff and work flow. Work consists of maintaining a flow of work through the equipment according to schedule, monitoring of system performance by means of console and on-line terminals, recognizing problems and initiating corrective action, and ensuring proper maintenance of the equipment. The position does not involve responsibility in the area of programming or systems analysis. Work is performed under the general leeway allowed for the exercise of independent judgment. PROMOTION: Current employees in the department having permanent competitive status as a Computer Operator or Real Property Tax Services Aide/Data Collector for eighteen (18) months.

Subjects of examination: A written test designed to evaluate knowledge, skills and /or abilities in the following areas:

1. Operation of computer hardware and peripheral equipment

These questions test for technical knowledge and concepts relevant to information technology and the operation of a computer and associated peripheral equipment. Although the questions asked are not specific to any vendor or any model of computer, the questions on storage media and peripheral equipment cover such subjects as characteristics of tape and disk systems as storage media, basic data communications terms, and the operation of peripheral equipment.

2. Reading and interpreting instructions relating to the execution of computer programs

These questions test for skill in following and applying written directions expressed as generalized operator instructions. You will be presented with generalized operating instructions and specific rules for applying them. All the information needed to answer the questions is presented in the test booklet; training on any particular computer system is not required.

3. Office record keeping

These questions test your ability to perform common office record keeping tasks. The test consists of two or more "sets" of questions, each set concerning a different problem. Typical record keeping problems might involve the organization or collation of data from several sources; scheduling; maintaining a record system using running balances; or completion of a table summarizing data using totals, subtotals, averages and percents. You should bring with you a hand-held battery- or solar-powered calculator for use on this test. You will not be permitted to use the calculator function of your cell phone.

4. Principles of providing user support

These questions test for knowledge and skill in working in a user support situation. They cover such subjects as how to communicate effectively with users requesting help; how to deal with different types of situations; troubleshooting techniques; and how to gather, organize and make available technical information needed to provide support.

5. Supervision

These questions test for knowledge of the principles and practices employed in planning, organizing, and controlling the activities of a work unit toward predetermined objectives. The concepts covered, usually in a situational question format, include such topics as assigning and reviewing work; evaluating performance; maintaining work standards; motivating and developing subordinates; implementing procedural change; increasing efficiency; and dealing with problems of absenteeism, morale, and discipline.

The New York State Department of Civil Service has not prepared a test guide for this examination.
